A Cultural Journey at the Foothills of the Volcano

- Perched on the scenic slopes of the Agua Volcano, just a short drive south of Antigua, lies the historic village of San Juan del Obispo. This tour invites you to step back in time, starting at the majestic Main Temple and the Palace of Francisco Marroquín, the first Bishop of Central America.
